Turn off meeting mute

Set access rights Open menu "Lock viewers"

Moderators have the possibility to restrict the rights of the viewers, i.e. the access to the media broadcast and other features of BigBlueButton. By default, all features are enabled. Access is provided by the "Manage users" gear icon at the top right of the user list and the menu item "Lock Viewers".

Restricted viewers are marked in the user list with the hint "locked".

Hint of blocked access rights

For example, you can prevent viewers from activating their camera and microphone. If they want to make a speech contribution, you can unlock them (see below). In this case, note that it takes a moment before the viewer can dial into the audio conference afterwards.

Lock viewers

- Share webcam
After activating this lock, viewers are no longer able to activate their camera. The webcam button of the viewers is now represented dimmed and inactive and shows "Webcam sharing locked".
- See other viewers webcams
After activating this lock, viewers only see the cameras of the moderators and their own. Moderators continue to see the cameras of all viewers. The lock reduces the bandwidth for viewers.
- Share microphone
After activating this lock, viewers are no longer able to activate their microphone. Users previously connected with microphone are automatically muted. From now on, the microphone button disappears for them and the audio button is displayed with a headphone icon for newly connected users, as only listening is allowed.
- Send Public chat messages
After activating this lock, viewers are no longer able to write messages in the public chat: The input field and the button for sending a message are inactive. A red hint "Chat is locked, messages can't be sent" appears below the input field. The public chat remains visible with all messages in it.
- Send Private chat messages
After activating this lock, viewers are no longer able to write private chat messages to other viewers. Moderators can still be contacted or get in touch with viewers themselves.
- Edit Shared Notes
After activating this lock, viewers are no longer able to edit the shared notes, but can still view them. The menu item is marked with the note "Locked by (Moderator)".
- See other viewers in the Users list
After activating this lock, viewers can only see themselves and moderators in the user list. Also, the number of people now visible adjusts.

Unlock viewers Lock and unlock viewers

You can remove some of the restrictions for individual viewers. To do this, click on the of the viewer in the user list and select "Unlock <name>" in the context menu. The following features are then available again for the user:

- Share webcam
- Activate microphone
After unlocking, the button for activating the microphone appears again for those affected. If difficulties arise here with activating the microphone, the audio button (telephone or headphone icon) to the right of it should be used to exit and rejoin the audio conference.
- Send Public chat messages
- Send Private chat messages
Generell sind Teilnehmende wieder in der Lage, private Chatnachrichten an alle Anwesenden zu schicken. Hier sollte beachtet werden, dass zwar andere gesperrte Personen angeschrieben werden, aber nicht selbst antworten können.
In general, viewers are again able to send private chat messages to everyone. Here it should be noted that other locked viewers can read the message from the unlocked viewer, but cannot reply.
- See other viewers in the user list

If unlocking is to be temporary, you can also lock the person again via their context menu.
